TARTAN TRADITIONS of Canada

by Deborah Edwards

Tartan comes from the Gaelic tradition of Scotland, but today is popular around the world. As the clans of Scotland were identified by their tartan, so today many organizations have their own distinct tartans. Tartans reflect tradition, but after hundreds of years remain fashionable and even trendy. We have curated a selection of 100% cotton yard dyed woven tartans representing Canada and each province and territory, celebrating their unique style and colors. The featured panel, a tartan map of our great country also includes a crest for each province. A selection of small maple leaf prints and canvas textures complete the collection. Use on their own or mix and match wovens and prints while celebrating our great nation with pride in your personal flair!
